Sumalatha files nomination

Mandya, Mar.20 (Nagaiah, RK&BCT)- After she announced her candidature from Mandya Lok Sabha Seat as Independent Candidate, Sumalatha Ambarish arrived at the Mandya DC's Office this morning and filed her nomination papers. Sumalatha, an actor and wife of Sandalwood star and former MP and MLA late M.H. Ambarish, is up against Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy's son Nikhil Kumaraswamy, who is the candidate for the JD(S)-Congress alliance.

Mandya Deputy Commissioner N. Manjushree, who is the Returning Officer, received the nomination papers at 11.30 am. Sumalatha started her day today with an early morning visit to Sri Chamundeshwari Temple atop the Chamundi Hill in Mysuru.

Fifty-five-year-old Sumalatha, along with her son Abhishek and Film Producer Rockline Venkatesh, arrived at the Temple at 8.30 am from Tirupati. She had been to Tirupati to offer prayers to Lord Venkateshwara yesterday. At the Chamundi Temple, priests performed puja to her nomination papers and the veteran actress spent about 20 to 25 minutes inside the temple sanctum sanctorum.

'NOT TENSED'

Speaking to reporters, Sumalatha said that the tradition of performing puja at Chamundeshwari Temple before filing nomination papers was followed by her husband Ambarish. "I am continuing the tradition and I know Ambarish is with me and Goddess Chamundeshwari will bless me with victory. I am not at all tensed," she said, exuding confidence.

N.R. Choultry Committee to take back leased out lands

Mysuru, Mar.20 (RK&BCT)- The Managing Committee of the 129-year-old Nanjaraja Bahadur Choultry (N.R. Choultry) on Vinoba Road in the heart of the city will soon take possession of its land that has been leased out for 30 years to private parties including the well-known Kings Kourt Hotel. The lease period comes to an end on Mar.31.

The Nanjaraja Bahadur Choultry was built 129 years ago and earlier, it was maintained by the Municipal Administration. At present, it is managed by Sri Nanjaraja Bahadur Chatra Managing Committee that has been constituted under the Muzrai Department. The Choultry was built with an intention to provide affordable accommodation to thousands of tourists who come to the city.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, C. Krishnappa, the President of Sri Nanjaraja Bahadur Chatra Managing Committee, said that the Choultry has 10 acres under its possession and it operates on no-profit-no-loss basis. "While some of the properties have been leased out by the State Government way back in 1975, some are under litigation. We will have to take back the land and the Committee has already sent a proposal to the Government not to renew any lease," he said.

"The Managing Committee met last month to take stock of the situation and in the light of the lease period coming to an end on Mar.31, the Committee passed a resolution to take possession of the land. The resolution has been forwarded to Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, who is the Administrative Officer of the Committee," Krishnappa said.

Geriatric care

Bouncing with boundless energy, unaware of the gradually changing world of toddlers into living with restrictions stipulated by the seniors in the family, the child unwittingly progresses to adulthood encountering more restrictions dictated by the uncaring society. The realisation of the imperatives of preparing in advance to sustain physical fitness, mental stability, disorders, diseases and distress dawns a bit too late in life. The expression that life begins at forty and starts showing acquires its meaning and message mostly towards the closing stages on one's innings except in cases of those fortunate enough to be groomed well. The fact that the less fortunate are in majority and account for several millions of headcount in the land's population is no justification to accept slipshod ways, particularly taking liberties with food consumption regimen.

The land's ancient scripts are a rich source of guidelines on all aspects of living the full span of four scores and twenty by adhering to discipline of eating in moderation, maintaining cleanliness, not yielding to temptations hurting health, reading books authored by reputed scholars and so on. These guidelines seem to be followed more in breach by gen next in our times.

The 2011 census of India has brought out that the proportion of the elderly has risen by 35 per cent in a decade and their number stands estimated at 103 million. The plight of this section of the land's population living in urban spaces is different from that of their counterparts in the rural parts. Proliferation of nuclear families in the cities, along with a rise in the number of women working outside their homes and grown up children gone abroad have resulted in the elderly getting stranded. The case of affluent sections is a bit more cheerful given the growing number of retirement homes with five-star facilities and assisted living care.

While the State has no wherewithal to create a social security system, the burden of caring for the elderly, bugged by myriad disabilities is already mind-boggling. The able-bodied and well-provided sections in the younger age group have the moral responsibility of geriatric care, not forgetting the Hindi idiom "saas bhi kabhi bahu thi" (mother-in-law was also once a daughter-in-law).

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

PHONE STOLEN?: The loss of a handset is agonising no doubt and can pinch the pocket, given the cost of premium phones. However, the greater worry is data being stolen and misused. Confidential work emails or net-banking apps installed on the phone can give away precious information.

The first thing to do is to report the incident to the nearest Police Station. Getting the handset is something that may not happen, but one can follow a few steps to try and safeguard data this is stored. The first option to keep the phone secure is to set fingerprint (when the facility is available) and PIN security for the smart phone. The thief will not be able to get hold of data if the phone is secured with finger and a PIN.

NEWS SPARKLERS

Fans watch football match from metal cage

Poland: A football match between two Polish third division teams received a lot of international attention last week for the appalling conditions in which fans of the visiting team had to watch the game. Shocking photos show a group of supporters crammed in a large metal cage that some media outlets described as a human zoo.

Around 100 supporters of Hutnik Krakow had accompanied their team for a match against Spartakus Daleszyce, in the Polish third football division. They were locked in a large metal cage for the entire 90-minute game. According to Polish rules, supporters of the away team must be kept separated from fans of the team hosting the game, but they usually end up in an isolated sector of the stadium to avoid violent clashes. However, Spartakus Daleszyce, opted to keep away fans in metal cages.

Childbirth is a taboo here!

Mafi Dove: A village in southern Ghana named Mafi Dove with about 5,000 residents and almost no one is born here. Because of an archaic belief that giving birth to a child in the village brings offense to the gods, pregnant mothers are rushed to neighbouring villages to deliver their babies.

Mafi Dove has a host of customs and traditions that have been passed down since times immemorial. But apart from minor taboos that don't really impact the lives of its inhabitants, this village continues to enforce three major rules. One is the complete absence of animals. The second thing is whenever someone dies, they are taken to cemeteries in other communities. And the third thing is that almost none of its inhabitants were actually born there. Women approaching their due date are transported to neighbouring villages or towns and forced to remain there until their babies' umbilical cords fall off. It is only then can they return.

VOICE OF THE READER

Provide dustbins and clear garbage regularly

Sir,

This serious issue of non-clearance of garbage dumped on General Thimayya Road near Hanuman Temple and Vivekananda Yoga Training Institute at Vijayanagar Second Stage needs urgent attention. Many students and children of the yoga institute, Chikkamma Government High School, St. Joseph's School and Sadvidya Semi Residential School travel daily and also walk on this road.

The garbage thrown right beside the road attracts lot of insects, flies and mosquitoes which breed in the waste heap and thereafter linger around children causing serious health hazards and badly affecting the immunity of children.

It is a matter of concern for many parents and residents in this area as garbage disposal is completely ignored by the Mysuru City Corporation. Therefore, our request is to provide two garbage disposal bins on General Thimmaiah Road near Hanuman Temple and Vivekananda Yoga Training Institute. Secondly, garbage collection must be done daily.

Milk packets will remind you about poll dates

Mysuru, Mar. 20 (SR&BCT)- The must have milk sachet at every household will henceforth remind you of the election dates in Karnataka – Apr. 19 and 23. For, the Karnataka Milk Federation (KMF) has decided to carry messages in all the Nandini milk and curd sachets urging people to vote. In a way, it is to remind the voters to exercise their legitimate right and bounden duty to vote.

Even the Mysore Milk Union Limited (MYMUL) that supplies milk to Mysuru and surrounding districts is spreading the voter awareness drive through milk sachets.

KMF, through its various milk unions across the State, sells more than 38 lakh litres of milk in plastic sachets. Milk sachets supplied to 14 districts in South Karnataka will have the date of election of Apr. 18, while the remaining districts will carry the date of Apr. 23.

KMF, which had undertaken the exercise during the 2014 Lok Sabha election too, is one of the various government agencies launching novel initiatives to urge the public to participate in the LS polls. MYMUL distributes more than seven lakh milk sachets daily through its milk parlours and outlets. Along with the voting dates, slogan Your Right, Your Vote, Vote Compulsorily is printed on the milk and curd sachets.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, MYMUL Managing Director Dr. M.S. Vijaykumar said the district-level Systematic Voters Education and Electoral Participation (SVEEP) Committee had directed all private and public organisations to involve in voter awareness drive to increase the percentage of voting and work towards the success of the drive undertaken by SVEEP.

MYMUL has joined hands with SVEEP and is sensitising the voters already. Similar drive was held in the previous Assembly and 2014 LS polls too, he said.

"We have got directions from ZP CEO K. Jyothi, who is the SVEEP District Officer, to print the election date and slogan on milk and curd sachets to remind to people to come to the polling booth on Apr. 18 to vote compulsorily. This drive will be conducted by MYMUL till the elections are over," he said.

Bengaluru, Mar.20- In a show of solidarity against their common enemy -the BJP, top JD(S) and Congress leaders, on Tuesday, announced that they would hold a public rally around Bengaluru on Mar. 31, with Congress President Rahul Gandhi and JD(S) supremo and former PM H.D. Deve Gowda (HDD) sharing the stage.

At a joint press conference yesterday, the parties said they were committed to defeat the divisive and communal forces in Karnataka in the LS polls.

Addressing press persons, JD(S) supremo H.D. Deve Gowda said that nominations have already begun and there was less time.

Appealing workers of both the parties, HDD said "Our resolve is to not only retain the seats we won in 2014, but also win a majority of seats held by the BJP" and added that he and CLP leader Siddharamaiah will address any issues in any constituency.

Siddharamaiah said that the observers will ensure co-ordination between both the parties. Strict directives will be issued to the district units of both the parties that they should forget their difference and work towards defeating the BJP.

Terming the proposed Mar. 31 rally near Bengaluru as a 'historic' one, Siddharamaiah said following the rally, leaders from both parties will hold joint campaigns across all the 28 seats.

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy admitting that there were problems in a few constituencies, asserted that they would be resolved. The CM appealed the rank and file of both the parties to focus on defeating the BJP.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka tells about measures to be taken after Holi celebrations are over

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Is it safe to colour animals with powders on Holi?

No, powdered colours are not safe for animals, not even the ones marketed as herbal and organic. The powdered colour can cause severe skin allergies and itchiness. When the dyes get into their eyes, it might cause blindness. Breathing in the colours can cause respiratory ailments and nasal irritation. Swallowing the powder can cause serious troubles, because the powders contain Lead which is a toxic metal. Drinking the water coloured by the powder can lead to hair loss and serious illnesses.

What are some symptoms that indicate a poisoning caused due to dry or wet colours on Holi?

Some symptoms are vomiting, loose stool, excessive drooling, behavioural changes, constipation, discharge from nostrils or excessive thirst. If these symptoms are observed then a vet should be consulted immediately.

What are some measures that must be taken after Holi celebrations are over? Can I use oil to get rid of the colour on my dog's fur?

Make sure that you just use animal shampoo to remove colour from your pet's fur. Never use hair oils or harsh products such as alcohol or kerosene.

Keep your dog away from you when you are smeared in colour or have guests that are.

Keep water balloons away from the reach of the dogs as they may chew it.

What should I do if I see a kid throwing a water balloon at an animal? How to tackle the kid and the scared animal?

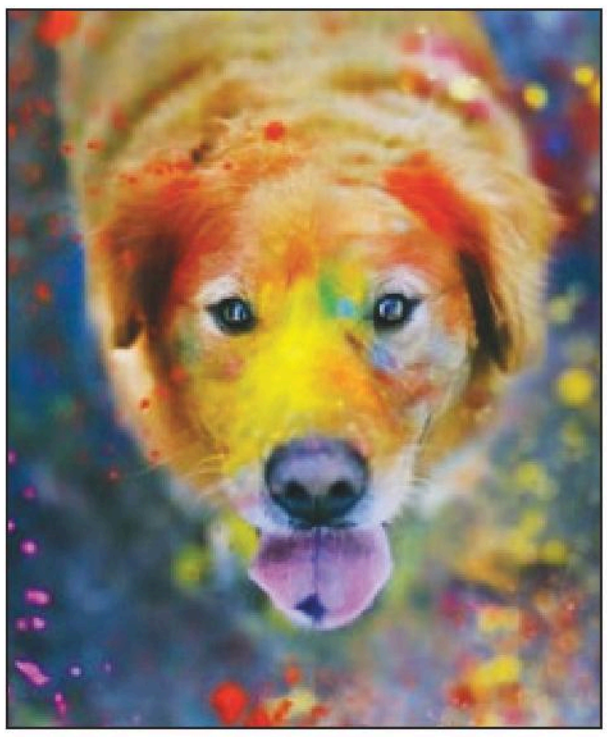
This child is naturally vicious and is using the excuse of a festival to be mean. The parents should be warned immediately, as he / she is probably mean to animals on a daily basis. The child should be taught not to use the festival to hurt an animal. Regardless, all parents should educate their children during Holi about the harmful effects of balloons and colours on animals.



You should observe how hurt the dog is. If the eye is hurt then wash the eye with water and, if the irritation persists, then take the dog to a vet. Otherwise, just gently pet the dog, give it a treat and see if there are any serious injuries.

How to help a bird with a kite string injury? What is the immediate action that I should take and who can I contact for further assistance?

If you see an injured bird then see how badly the bird is entangled in the string. First, the string should be cut as much as possible. Then, a pain killer and an antibiotic, called Melonix, should be given through drops in its beak. Put the bird into a cardboard box with a blanket underneath. Contact local animal rescue authorities immediately.

How to fly kites without harming birds? What are the times that I shouldn't fly kites?

• Don't fly kites between 6 am-8 am. Birds go out of nest to look for food; • Don't fly kites between 4.30 pm-6.30 pm: Birds return to nests; • Don't use glass coated Chinese strings or Majha; • Call a vet or animal protection group if you see an injured bird.

Why do dogs eat their own vomit?

Probably because regurgitating food is not as sickening to them as it is to humans. Dogs eat their own vomit because to them it's seen as a food which they don't want to waste. If you notice, they don't eat the liquid, just the big pieces. When pups are being weaned, mother dogs will regurgitate food for their young to help them adjust to eating.

How to treat monkey bites?

Treatment depends on the health status of the patient, the location of the bite and whether or not there is a suspicion of rabies in the monkey. The main principles of care include:

• Early medical management, including wound cleansing.

• Prophylactic antibiotics to decrease infection risk.

• Rabies post-exposure treatment depending on the animal vaccination status.

• Administration of tetanus vaccine if the person has not been adequately vaccinated.

Water crunch hits animals, birds at Anechowkur Forest

By Prasad Sampigekatte

Madikeri, Mar.20- Summer is intensifying and not only rivers which are the lifeline of the people that are going dry creating drinking water problems, even the forests are going dry causing a lot of problems to wild animals and birds.

One of the common scenes in the Anechowkur forest region in Virajpet taluk of Kodagu District is of a wild elephant lifting water from a pond through its trunk, even as a deer quietly comes to the pond with fear writ large on its face seeing the huge elephant, takes a sip and darts away. It is surprising how nature works. Just a few months ago, a part of Kodagu was devastated with floods, but now with the sun blazing not only humans but even animals and birds are tottering due to lack of water. As the temperatures keep rising, the lakes, the ponds and the waterholes are all drying up.

On one side there is water scarcity and on the other the fear of forest fire due to summer heat. In this precarious position, the animals are facing shortage of food and scarcity of water. In the Anechowkur forest region due to lack of rainfall, water has not been collected anywhere.

In this scenario, the Forest Department has come forward to replenish these waterholes so that it will benefit the wild animals and birds. The officials have dug borewells in the surrounding areas so that the wild animals will not suffer. They are using solar power to fill the empty lakes and waterholes. This has resulted in the wild animals coming to these places in the morning and evening to drink water. The elephants, deer and other animals are quenching their thirst here.

The villagers in the surrounding areas are appreciating the good work of the Forest Department.

Kodagu district was in the national news following heavy floods which had devastated the district. However, in the coming days with the water sources drying up it may even face a drought-like situation, which cannot be ruled out.

Even in the midst of this anxiety, the Forest Department is easing the water scarcity problem faced by the wild animals and birds in the Nagarahole Tiger Reserve limits.

Kodava Heritage Centre deserted

Plans on to revive the unique Centre at Madikeri after Lok Sabha Elections

The spot where the Kodava Heritage Centre is located in Madikeri

By Prasad Sampigekatte

Madikeri, Mar. 20- While a unique Kodava Cultural Centre on a sprawling 15-acre land at the sleepy and picturesque Balugodu, 6 km from Virajpet in Kodagu is attracting Kodava community members in hordes for marriages and other social, cultural and community gatherings, the ambitious Kodava Heritage Centre being built on a four-acre land at Karavale Badaga Village on the outskirts of Madikeri has been abandoned for reasons best known to the District Authorities.

Only 30 percent of the works are complete and despite money being sanctioned to the project, the work contractor has abandoned the project. The Kodava Heritage Centre was initiated by the Ministry of Tourism, Government of India in 2009-2010 and it sanctioned Rs. 1.45 crore. Later, the funds were increased to Rs. 2.53 crore. The foundation stone was laid on Sept. 21, 2011 and work began in full swing at Karavale Badaga in a place is located at a height and is visible from far and wide.

The project was conceptualised to showcase the traditional 'Mundh Mane' and 'Ain Mane' (ancestral home) as the concept of Ain Mane was fast disappearing as lands continue to be commercialised. Ain Mane is a place where all members belonging to a particular family lived in good olden days. However, now Ain Mane is a mere tradition as elders have gone, families have split and migrated in search of greener pastures.

Ain Mane has an important role in the socio-cultural traditions of Kodavas. Each Ain Mane belongs to an 'okka' (patrilineal clan) that is identified by a family name. There are over 1,000 Kodava families each with a distinct family name. Though most of the families do not have an Ain Mane of their own, a few families that have Ain Mane are protecting the tradition by organising social events.

These events include "meedhi," "Guru Karona" (ancestral worship) where men, women and children of the family who are settled outside the district are brought together. Festivals such as "Puttari," "Kail Poldu" and "Cauvery Changrandi" are also celebrated at Ain Mane.

The Kodava Heritage Centre was planned to preserve the culture of ancestral homes and to showcase the unique concept to tourists. The Centre was supposed to reflect unique architectural styles of Ain Mane that dated back to 150 to 250 years ago. The Centre was supposed to feature unique features like Museum, Art Gallery and Cultural Theatre (Amphitheatre), reflecting the heritage value of Kodagu.

Considering the importance of the Heritage Centre, the Kodagu Tourism Department was entrusted with its construction and accordingly, the contractor was finalised and the Public Works Department initiated the work through the contractor. Even the work began in full swing and the Centre was supposed to be handed over to the Tourism Department on Sept. 21, 2012, taking one full year for construction.

It is 2019 now, and even after seven years, the construction has not been completed and the place now resembles a haunted house with weeds all over. Local people said that the contractor has not followed the standard construction procedures and has used sub-standard materials. The granite slabs which are supposed to last for years together, is peeling off and the walls have developed cracks.

On Mar. 2, 2018, Tourism Department Director had visited the Heritage Centre and had directed the PWD officials to complete the works in four months. Despite this, nothing has moved and the place continues to lie in neglect.

'Works will be handed over to Nirmithi Kendra'

The works to complete the abandoned Kodava Heritage Centre will be handed over to Nirmithi Kendra or some other government construction agency, said Deputy Director of Tourism Department, Mysuru H.P. Janardhan under whose purview falls Kodagu tourism.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Janardhan said that initially, the work was handed over to a Mysuru-based contractor. "As he has abandoned the project despite the release of funds, we have blacklisted the contractor. Once the Lok Sabha Election Model Code of Conduct period ends, we will hand over the works to Nirmithi Kendra or some other government construction agency. We will complete the project and make it a major tourist attraction," he said.

Rathi Vinay Jha initiated the project

The idea of Kodava Heritage Centre in Madikeri was mooted by senior IAS Officer (now retired) Rathi Vinay Jha and she is the force behind setting up the Centre. Rathi retired as the Secretary, Ministry of Tourism, Government of India and she hails from Kodagu. She initiated the Kodava Heritage Centre when she was the Tourism Secretary and was instrumental in sanctioning funds from the Union Government.

Rathi Vinay Jha

Rathi Vinay Jha is the sister of late Codanda G. Somiah who held high posts including Planning Commission Secretary, under the chairmanship of former PM Manmohan Singh, Home Secretary when Rajiv Gandhi was the Prime Minister, Central Vigilance Commissioner and finally the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (CAG).

Sumalatha files nomination

Later, Sumalatha drove to Mandya along with her supporters and led a massive road show there. She also addressed her supporters at Silver Jubilee Park and garlanded the statue of Sir M. Visvesvaraya. Actors Yash, Darshan, Rockline Venkatesh and Doddanna accompanied Sumalatha all through rally and public function.

As a jolt to the prospects of coalition partners, party workers of Congress and JD(S) came in support of Sumalatha. A large number of Congress workers, holding the party flag, accompanied her in the rally from DC office to Silver Jubilee Park. People cheered at Yash and Darshan as they waved to the crowd and appealed to vote for Sumalatha.

FANS CHEER SUMALATHA

Ambarish fans, Congress party workers, several leaders from the Dalit, Adivasi and minority communities as well as members of the Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha had gathered outside the DC's Office. The song 'Mandyada Gandu', one of the most popular ones from Ambarish's film, was blaring loudly on the speakers as Sumalatha walked in to file her nomination. Fans began a bike rally from the DC Office and made their way to Silver Jubilee Park.

After filing her nomination, Sumalatha began her road show, with actors Yash and Darshan flanking her on either side. "Dheera! Dheera! (brave one)" and "Sumalatha Jai" were being yelled as Sumalatha's rally vehicle made its way to the Silver Jubilee Park. Supporters held placards of Sumalatha along with those of Ambarish, actors Yash and Darshan as the show began.

CABLE BLACKOUT

Traffic on Mysuru-Bengaluru National Highway came to a halt in Mandya as a large number of people, supporters of Sumalatha gathered on the street. Interestingly, there was no live telecast of Sumalatha's rally across Mandya as planned earlier as cable signal supply was disconnected.

Meanwhile, Sumalatha's opponent and CM Kumaraswamy's son Nikhil will file his nomination papers on Mar. 25, said to be auspicious Panchami day. Kumaraswamy has already decided to stay in Mandya city to ensure the victory of his son. The CM is set to launch the campaign today evening after performing puja at the Adichunchanagiri Mutt, sources said.

N.R. Choultry Committee

"The Committee has also approached the appropriate Court of Law and filed a caveat to prevent the people who have taken land on lease from bringing a stay order on the Committee's move to take over the land. In addition, the Committee has written to Mysuru City Corporation Commissioner not to renew the trade licence of the hotel and a similar letter has been written to the Excise Department, not to renew the bar licence of the hotel in view of the lease coming to an end," Krishnappa said.

He said that the lease period ended in 2009 and was extended for another 10 years with Mar.31, 2019 as the end date. "The Committee wants to cancel all lease agreements and take the entire land into its possession. A master plan to develop the premises will be prepared soon," Krishnappa added.

Reacting on the Choultry Managing Committee move, L. Vivekananda, the proprietor of Kings Kourt Hotel told Star of Mysore that he would abide by the Government decision. "Yes, the lease period ends on Mar.31 and the issue must be decided by the State Government. We will abide by the Government decision," he said.

It may be recalled here that Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy, during his visit to Mysuru in September last year had said that the campus of Nanjaraja Bahadur Choultry would be utilised to expand Maharani's Women's Arts College. A hostel for the students will be built in a one-acre plot behind the Choultry and the State Government already possesses the land, he had said.

Party candidates may face ire of tribal community

Successive Governments have ignored crucial tribal issues; facilities not reaching them, allege Adivasis

Mysuru, Mar 20 (UNI)- Tribal communities in Mysuru-Kodagu Lok Sabha Constituency are a disappointed lot after successive governments at the Centre and State have ignored their demands.

There are nearly 50,000 tribal families in the Mysuru-Kodagu segment and the number of tribal voters is reckoned to be around 1.25 lakh and they have decided to consolidate themselves in the run-up to the Lok Sabha elections.

Tribal issues related to Forest Rights Act and rehabilitation will come to haunt the BJP and the Congress/ Janata Dal (Secular) candidates during their campaigning in parts of Hunsur and Periyapatna in Mysuru district and in Kodagu which is part of the LS seat.

The Scheduled Tribes and Other Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Act, 2006 was enacted 13 years ago to correct the historical injustice meted out to the tribal and forest-dwelling people by recognising their rights over forests apart from the community rights over common property resources.

A case in point is the demand for the implementation of Panchayat (Extension to Scheduled Areas) Act (PESA) 1996, which provides for tribal self-rule in areas where their numbers are high. PESA has been enacted in States like Chhattisgarh, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, Jharkhand, and Odisha.

Tribals live in abject poverty with no access to any government facilities. Even inside the forest they are barred from collecting forest produce. The Mysuru region has a tribal population of over 1.25 lakh.

If PESA is enacted, tribal people will feel empowered and their culture and way of life can be protected, according to activists of Vikasa Vahini. Likewise, the provisions of the Forest Rights Act, though on paper, have not been implemented in spirit, said tribal leaders.

However, the anger against the governments and the elected representatives is for their failure to implement PESA as a result of which their applications for forest rights have been rejected. This has resulted in a grave situation with the Supreme Court ordering the eviction of tribals whose applications for forests rights had been turned down.

"The Act was passed by the UPA Government in 2006 and the Congress was in power in Karnataka for five years from 2013 to 2018 and it failed to implement the provisions of the Act sincerely", said M.B. Prabhu, a tribal activist who is based in Veeranahosahalli, also in Hunsur taluk.

There is brewing discontent among the tribals that most of the welfare programmes launched either by the Centre or the State were not reaching them. There is scope for creating employment under Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchai Yojana and Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Grameena Kaushalya Yojana by extending horticultural activity to the tribal hamlets but none have been taken up, say tribals.

The tribals are aware that both the BJP and the Congress/ JDS(S) will woo them. Hence the adivasis are planning to leverage their collective strength to ensure that their voice is heard at least this time. A meeting of the leaders and elders of the tribal hamlets is planned in due course to decide their next course of action, according to Prabhu.

Trees in K.R. Hospital get water space

Mysuru, Mar. 20- K.R. Hospital Authorities took an initiative yesterday to create water space at the root of trees grown in the hospital premises.

Following complaints from environmental groups that the tree roots were entirely covered by cement for hospital visitors to sit, the Hospital Authorities, led by Superintendent Srinivas pulled up the contractors and directed them to make space so that water can enter the roots of trees. He told the contractors that trees would die eventually if there is no natural supply of water.

IPL 2019 League stage schedule released

Playoffs and Final dates yet to be revealed

New Delhi, Mar.20- The IPL 2019 schedule was released on Tuesday with the tournament website showing dates for the league stage. However, dates and venues for the playoffs and the final of the tournament are yet to be revealed.

According to the IPL website, final league matches will be played on May 5 with Kings XI Punjab (KXIP) taking on Chennai Super Kings (CSK) in Mohali in the day's first clash while the second match of the day will see Mumbai Indians (MI) host Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) at the Wankhede Stadium.

Under the captaincy of MS Dhoni, defending champions CSK will face Virat Kohli-led Royal Challengers Bangalore (RCB) in the opening match of IPL 2019 on March 23.

"The BCCI is pleased to announce that not only will the entire tournament be held in India, but also each of the eight franchises will play their 7 home games at their respective venues," a BCCI media release said.

"The Board thanks the Election Commission of India (ECI), local Police authorities at each venue for their cooperation. This has ensured that the league sticks to the home and away format."

The schedule for playoffs will be announced later, the Indian Board confirmed.

It was expected a complete schedule would be announced on Tuesday. However, confusion reigned supreme as the IPL website first released the full schedule but minutes later delete it.

Soon enough, though, the group stage schedule for IPL 2019 started appearing on the schedule page. Last month, the Indian Premier League had released the schedule for the first two weeks, during which 17 matches were to be played.

Alliance candidate to challenge Pratap Simha

Mysuru, Mar.20 (SBD&DM)-With JD(S) conceding the Mysuru-Lok Sabha seat to its alliance partner Congress, the battle lines have been drawn for the Mysuru-Kodagu LS seat, which is currently represented by Pratap Simha of BJP.

Pratap Simha, who was a little known face when he entered the fray in 2014, went on to win the seat defeating A.H. Vishwanath who was then with the Congress.

Simha is most likely to be renominated by the BJP, which is expected to release its list of candidates in a couple of days.

As far as Congress is concerned, former MP C.H. Vijayashankar is the most likely candidate, as he has the strong backing of CLP leader and former CM Siddharamaiah, who hails from Mysuru. Incidentally, Vijayashanakar had won twice on a BJP ticket in 1998 and 2004. But in 2014, the BJP fielded him from Hassan, while bringing Pratap Simha to contest from Mysuru.

Vijayashankar quit BJP ahead of last year's Assembly elections and joined Congress. In 2014 LS Polls, Simha secured 5,03,908 votes, followed by A.H. Vishwanath of Congress who bagged 4,72,300 votes and Chandrashekaraiah of JD(S) who managed 1,38,587 votes. There were 13 other candidates in the fray, including from AAP and BSP.

Pratap Simha, who won by a margin of over 30,000 votes, had bagged 43.45 percent of the votes polled then, with Vishwanath getting 40.72 percent and Chandrashekaraiah 11.95 percent.

The Mysuru-Kodagu LS constituency has eight Assembly segments — NR, KR, Chamaraja, Chamundeshwari, Periyapatna and Hunsur in Mysuru and Madikeri and Virajpet in Kodagu. Out of the eight Assembly segments, four are currently held by the BJP (KR, Chamaraja, Madikeri and Virajpet), while JD(S) has three Legislators (Periyaptna, Hunsur and Chamundeshwari) and Congress just one (NR).

Pratap Simha

With Congress-JD(S) signing seat-sharing pact, BJP will have a tough task on its hand to retain this important LS seat. But the Lok Sabha polls are entirely different from Assembly polls and BJP is hoping that the electorate will retain its faith on the party this time too. Incidentally, JD(S) which has a strong voter base in the district, has never won the LS polls.

Now that the Congress has got the seat as per the seat-sharing deal, it is to be seen whether JD(S) votes will get transferred to Congress. As far as BJP is concerned, the party is relying on the popularity of Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the work done by MP Pratap Simha over the past five years.

In the past, Congress has won 13 times and BJP three times here. In any case, it will be a keen contest this time, with Pratap Simha likely to take on Vijayashankar of Congress.

WORD OF THE DAY

Bathetic

Pronunciation: buh-THET-ik

Meaning: Producing an unintentional effect of anticlimax or sentimentalism

Origin: When English speakers turned apathy into apathetic in the late 17th century, using the suffix -etic to turn the noun into the adjective, they were inspired by pathetic, the adjectival form of pathos, from Greek pathētikos. People also applied that bit of linguistic transformation to coin bathetic. English speakers added the suffix -etic to bathos, the Greek word for "depth," which in English has come to mean "triteness" or "excessive sentimentalism." The result: the ideal adjective for the incredibly commonplace or the overly sentimental.

Examples: "The TV people inevitably reduce history to a series of bathetic tropes: the flag waving in slow motion, the rescued puppy, the evacuee given the star treatment of American Idol." — Matthew Power, Harper's, December 2005. "A vein of knowingness runs through it, a gently comic self-portrait of a lost soul out of time, as when Pierce casts himself in the bathetic role of a 'lonely rock and roller' hankering to hear Big Star on the radio." — Ludovic Hunter-Tilney, The Financial Times, 7 Sept. 2018.

THE ODD WORD

Douceur

A financial inducement or bribe

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Harvest moon

Meaning: The full moon that is seen nearest to the time of the autumn equinox.

Origin: Let's start with the equinox, which involves the sun rather than the moon. The equinox is the time when the Earth's equatorial plane is directly in line with the sun. At that time the length of the day and of the night are equal. This happens twice a year; once in the spring, around the end of March and again in autumn, around the end of September. The date of the Harvest moon isn't the same each year, as it is fixed by the appearance of the nearest full moon, which can fall on any date. As far as the linguistics of 'Harvest moon' goes we know that it has been used as a name since at least the 18th century. The English poet Isaac Watts was an early user of it in the lyric poem The Celebrated Victory of the Poles, 1706. Of course, the Harvest moon isn't all about the moon; it is also about the harvest. Farmers have used it as a marker in the annual cycle telling them when the growing season has come to an end and when to harvest their crops. The added benefit of a bright moon lengthened the working day at the busiest time of the farming year.
